Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ishitaka et al (US 6330046).

Ishitaka discloses a reflective LCD device comprising (see at least Figure 1): a liquid crystal layer 2 enclosed with a pair of substrates 1a & 1b arranged opposing to each other; a seal member 3 provided on periphery portion of the pair of substrates; at least an organic film 41, a reflective metal (Al) film 51, an overcoat film 61, an electrode layer 91a, and an orientation film 41a on the liquid crystal layer side of one substrate of the pair of substrates; and the organic film is formed in the region inside the end of an inner perimeter side of the seal member provided on the periphery portion of the substrates.

Per claim 2, Ishitaka discloses the device comprising the organic film having a portion formed in a region at least 0mm (within Applicant's range of 0-5mm) inside the end of the inner perimeter side of the seal member provided on the periphery portion of the substrates (see at least Figure 1).

Per claim 3, see at least Figure 1.

Per claim 4, see at least Figure 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ishitaka et al as applied to claims 2-5 above, and further in view of Hatanaka et al (US 6597421).

The use of color filters in LCD device is common and known in the art for providing a color display device. Hatanaka discloses color filters 104 disposed formed directly on the reflective film 103 for achieving a color display device. Therefore, it would have been at least obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ color filters disposed formed directly on the reflective film for achieving a color display device.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
